What you need to know if you have a child in college!

The VAB funds scholarships at Champlain College, Castleton and Northern VT University for students studying broadcast. If you have a child at one of these schools, consider applying for one of these very helpful scholarships!

But what if your child is attending a different college and not studying broadcast? The VAB has something to help you too! We've started a scholarship through VSAC open to children of broadcasters attending any college for any course of study!
